Introduction to Big Data Analytics

Big data is a collection of massive and complex data sets and data volume that include the huge quantities of data, data management capabilities, social media analytics and real-time data. Big data analytics is the process of examining large amounts of data. There exist large amounts of heterogeneous digital data.

Learning objectives

In this Workshop we will learn an overview of approaches facilitating data analytics on huge datasets. Different strategies are presented including sampling to make classical analytics tools amenable for big datasets, analytics tools that can be applied in the batch or the speed layer of a lambda architecture, stream analytics, and commercial attempts to make big data manageable in massively distributed or in-memory databases. Learners will be able to realistically assess the application of big data analytics technologies for different usage scenarios and start with their own experiments.

A Report on Two-Day Workshop on "Big Data Analytics" organized by Deparment of MCA

19th & 20th December 2020.

With an objective to acquaint the students with basic knowledge of big data analytics, Department of MCA has conducted a two day workshop for PG students in the departmental seminar hall from 19th & 20th December 2020.

The program was inaugurated by Mr. N. Sendhil Kumar, Assoc.professor, HOD, MCA along with an inaugural speech highlighting the importance of these technologies in present day context.

The resource person Dr. Rajnesh started her talk with an introduction to data warehousing and big data analytics. She moved on to elaborate HADOOP, the principal framework used for big data analytics, and explained in detail the techniques like HDFS and map reduce.

On the second day, Dr. Rajnesh, continued her discussion by elaborating various related technologies and visualization tools. She took up Hive, Pig, Hbase, ETL, Tableau and described these at great length.

The event was a successful one. The workshop was relevant to the title and were well-appreciated by the students. After completion of this workshop students have felt encouraged to explore these technologies further and to take up project work in these current areas.
